Cone Enters Race For U.S. Congress

Citing high taxes and increasing inflation as major problems that must be met with strong corrective action in government, James J. Cone of Lake Bluff has announced his candidacy for U.S. Representative in Congress from Illinois' Twelfth District.

Cone stated that "the drain on the taxpayer must be stopped." He noted the failure of the Nixon administration to keep its pledge to eliminate the federal income surtax by July 31, 1969, and stated that "we are faced with the prospect that this so-called 'temporary' measure may become a permanent fixture like the excise tax if the people don't speak out."

Referring to the Senate's recent rejection of a proposal to increase the tax withholding exemption for dependents from $600 to $1200 per individual, Cone accused the administration of "a failure to recognize that continued pressure on the taxpayer to support continued high levels of military defense spending, will surely result in reductions in consumer spending and unemployment levels never experienced during the past decade."

"Other important issues will be examined during the campaign," said Cone. "They include the air and water pollution problems facing the residents of the District and the need for increased employment opportunities, particularly among minority group workers."

Calling his candidacy "the politics of involvement," Cone declared that "the people of this district deserve a stronger voice in Congress. We need more than just a respectable citizen to represent us, we need a leader who will speak out firmly on the important issues facing today's troubled society."

Cone hopes to receive the official endorsement of the Democratic Party in the Twelfth District as its candidate for nomination in the March, 1970 primary election. He has been a member of the Advisory Board of the Lake County Democratic Central

Narcotic Danger Detailed

The response to the Grass Lake School PTA's program Monday night on drugs and narcotics was tremendous. Nearly 200 people crowded the gym to hear Dr. Edward Abderholden, members of Teen Challenge, Inc. and Maurice Butler, of the Lake County Sheriff's Department, discuss the problem. Dr. Abderholden told the audience that the use of drugs is on the increase throughout the country, but the use of one drug — LSD is going down. He said it is estimated that nearly 50% of the students attending large universities, in or near large cities, have used or tried drugs at one time or another. The figure is estimated at 20% in the smaller midwest schools.

All speakers pointed out the dangers of marijuana. "Marijuana is an hallucinatory drug," said Dr. Abderholden, and serious crimes have been committed under the influence of this drug. In many cases it is the starting point to the use of hard drugs.

Teen Challenge, Inc., a non profit religiously oriented group which started helping addicts in Brooklyn, New York, now has 30 centers throughout the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico. They can handle 2000 cases a year and claim an 80% positive cure. They have succeeded in curing addicts through church centered and spiritual means. One of their members who had come to this country from Puerto Rico, told how he started smoking marijuana. After six months on marijuana, he tried heroin — and became "hooked." The drug habit was costing him from $30 to $40 per day and he resorted to robbery, theft, and other crimes to keep himself in drugs. He eventually found Teen Challenge, Inc. and they helped him overcome the drug habit. Teen Challenge, Inc. has offices at 312 S. Ashland Avenue in Chicago.

The film "Hooked," was shown and this movie was a "round table" of former drug addicts who were unanimous in the opinion that drugs are actually about as glamorous as cancer, and each one told of his sad and terrifying experiences with drugs.

Butler displayed a kit which

Building In Antioch Reaches Record High

Work is expected to be completed on the new addition to the Antioch Village Hall by the middle of December.

The $46,000 structure will house the Antioch Police Department.

Building in Antioch experienced a phenomenal growth in 1969, reaching a record high of $4,856,547.

The nearest figure to that in recent years was recorded in 1963 when $1,315,555 was registered.

Since that time the figure has stayed under the $1 million mark each year.

While it is true that several large projects, such as the new Antioch Upper Grade School, the Antioch Community High School Addition and the Antioch Township Library and Antioch Police station are included in this year's figures, the figure without those projects still totals $1.1 million.

Included in the $1.1 figure are:

Twenty-four new residences at $11,363.

Multiple family units totaling $213,000.

Eleven private garages at $24,373.

Thirteen alterations to residences at $27,557.

Six commercial alterations at $20,015.

Two new industrial sites at $220,000.

One industrial addition at $60,000.

Five moved and remodeled residences at $26,240.

Nearing completion at the present time is the new Antioch police station at a cost of $49,000.

This addition, which is being put on the south end of the present village hall is expected to be completed by the middle of next month.

The new Antioch Township Library carries a cost figure of $250,000 and the new Antioch Upper Grade School, for which bids were recently let, totals some $1,250,000.

The new addition to the high school totals some $2,200,000 while last but not least is a Commonwealth Edison Co. expansion of $950.

Thousands Bilked By Gyps at Christmas Time

Each year, thousands of Christmas shoppers are victimized by fraudulent operators who take the initiative of an unsuspecting public to increase their activities during the holiday season. These fringe operators capitalize on the Christmas rush and the fact that people tend to be more generous at this time of the year.

According to Earl R. Lind, president of the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Chicago, more people register complaints with the BBB in early January than at any other time of the year, and most of the complaints involve Christmas purchases. In an effort to head off some of the complaints, and to make the season a little brighter for both consumers and merchants, the BBB has offered a few suggestions.

The Christmas gyp is cloaked in many garments:

... He may be a street corner peddler hawking cheap watches, perfume, gadgets, toys, ties and other shoddy merchandise.

... He may work for a mail order firm offering toys, watches, jewelry and other items supposedly at a fraction of the retail price. When the merchandise arrives it may be a cheap imitation of the item thought to have been ordered.

... He may be only a telephone voice making an appeal for some unknown charitable organization, or a self-described needy individual seeking clothing, food, fuel or funds.

He may be a glib, well-dressed salesman harassing businessmen who buy gifts in quantity for Christmas. Sales may be attempted in offices, at factory gates, on the street or door-to-door.

The following guidelines will protect you from swindlers:

... Consumers ordering Christmas gifts from well-established mail-order firms should allow three or four weeks for delivery.

... Sales may be final. Ascertain conditions of sale and obtain guarantee in writing.

... Examine purchases before Christmas. Don't expect transient vendors to be around after

The former sheriff, now a captain in the Lake County Sheriff's Department has taken a leave of absence to run for the post.

A veteran of more than 20 years experience in the sheriff's department, Larson has been serving as a bailiff in Central Magistrate's Court in Waukegan.

CLC Seeks To Join 26 Others In Bond OK

The College of Lake County will be the 26th public junior college in the state to approve local financing if the residents of the district approve the $6,200,000 bond issue which will be voted on December 20, 1969.

The most recent college to receive approval was Southeastern Illinois College in Harrisburg whose residents, on December 2, approved their local share by a ten to one margin.

Approval by the voters of the College of Lake County district of the $6,200,000 local share will qualify the College for an additional $12,000,000 in State funds.

Approval of the referendum will provide our financial share for the first two phases of a three phase total building project. The State has already allocated $5,845,000 for phase one.

It has indicated that an additional $6,000,000 will be available for phase two. With the State contribution of about $12, 000,000, approval of the 6.2 million dollar bond issue will support, in effect, an $18,000,000 building program. Officials of the College have pointed out that the interim campus, which opened in September, will not be adequate to house even the 4,000 students that are expected for September, 1970.

Approximately 2,000 full and part time students are currently attending day and evening classes at the College of Lake County.

Approval of the bond issue will permit the College to build the first two phases of the permanent campus and, thus, accommodate approximately 7,500 full and part-time students by 1975.

The maximum tax rate needed to retire the $6,200,000 bond issue will be $6.66 per $100 of equalized assessed evaluation. This low rate is possible because of the very large assessed evaluation of

Personal Property Tax Out After 1970

Most Illinois families will not be paying a personal property tax after 1970 due to the efforts of three GOP senators.

Senators Robert Coulson (R-31) of Waukegan, Karl Berning (R-32) of Deerfield and Egbert B. Groen (R-48) of Pekin sponsored legislation exempting families from personal property tax liability for household furniture and one automobile.

This means most people will not be filling out a personal property tax assessment schedule next April and will not be paying the unpopular tax beginning with 1971, Sen. Coulson explains.

Coulson estimates the legislation exempts an estimated 80 percent of Illinois residents from paying the most unpopular tax in the state.

Sen. Berning states that a majority of the legislators favored elimination of the tax, but they were unable to kill all personal property taxes because the levy is included in the Constitution. The General Assembly cannot amend the Constitution.

"However," said Berning, "the legislature did adopt a resolution placing the matter before the voters in the November, 1970 general election."

Through adoption of the proposed constitutional amendment, Illinois voters can bring an end to this tax.

The personal property tax dates back to the last century when household furnishings and farm machinery were some indication of an individual's wealth, Senator Groen notes.

"We have seen a rapid transition in this state during the past 100 years. We have gone from an essentially rural economy at the dawn of the industrial revolution to a highly mobile atomic society in which most people are not self-employed but salaried," the Pekin legislator says.

Crime Rate Soars

The 1960's is almost over and Americans have had good reason to be concerned about the record of crime and violence during the past decade.

Figures show that during 1960 there were 2,014,600 serious crimes reported.

And while there are not complete figures for 1969 as yet, preliminary reports show that crime rose 9 per cent during the first 6 months when compared with the first half of 1968.

Almost 4.5 million serious crimes were recorded in 1968.

The volume, according to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, has soared 122 per cent since 1960 while population has risen 11 per cent. He says that since 1960 the risk of being a victim of a serious crime has nearly doubled and many authorities now believe crime to be the nation's most serious internal problem.

Hoover calls the sixties a "decade which could be referred to as a revolutionary era of permissiveness."

The decade was marked with the assassination of a president and a presidential aspirant; open defiance of the laws was urged by many so-called public leaguers; major cities were burned and looted.

Law enforcement efforts during the sixties were laudible, Hoover says, even though there may appear to be no appreciable gain.

In fighting crime the value of good work cannot always be measured by the results achieved.

Even though crime increased at an alarming rate, vital enforcement responsibilities were discharged effectively and tremendous progress was made, the director maintains.

He pointed out that in spite of the increasing demands, new responsibilities and many obstacles, law enforcement reached new heights of efficiency, public service and protection of civil rights of all citizens.

Law enforcement to day is more strongly united in the fight against crime than ever before.

The help of public spirited citizens is necessary, however, to cut into the soaring crime rate in the 1970's.

Each citizen should give that aid.

Food For Thought

"The war against poverty and deprivation begins at home—but it must not end there.

"We live at a time when the ability to transform the world is only limited by faintness of heart or narrowness of vision."—From the report of the Commission on International Development.

"The CARE Food Crusade will help feed 35,000,000 people in 36 countries from Latin America to Africa and Asia during the coming year. Funds are needed to deliver 6,650,000 food packages, at $1 per package, in the name of the American people."—Letter from CARE.

As Christmas nears, take time to ponder those messages.

For Americans with the heart to reach even beyond their own borders and the vision to help build the kind of work that will be better for all of us, CARE offers a direct way to express the holiday spirit of compassion and good will for all mankind.

The Food Crusade is the largest CARE program requiring public support. Combined with the agency's self-help and medical programs, it seeks to give hungry people the health and energy, the education and skills to feed and support themselves in the future.

Your Congressman Reports....
By Cong. Robert McClory

The shameful tragedy at My Lai, where some 128 Vietnamese civilians were slaughtered, re-emphasizes the conviction (held by this Member of Congress) that American ground forces do not belong in Vietnam.

Our nation's earlier role as military advisors and as suppliers of military hardware to the South Vietnamese, is a role quite distinct from that of being the principal combatants in the guerrilla warfare being waged in South Vietnam.

Prior to the My Lai massacre, this village had been the scene of much bitter fighting between the Viet Cong and the American forces. A number of young American soldiers, who were popular with their comrades, had died there. The My Lai residents were regarded as collaborators of the Viet Cong, and they had been warned of the danger of remaining in the area. Still, many elected to remain—men, women and children—and they died, brutally slain by the most unconscionable and barbarous conduct. An uncivilized or tyrannical society might be able to experience such conduct without a general public or official reaction, but not the United States of America where humane treatment, even of one's own enemies, is consistent with our standards of behavior.

It has been repeated many times that life in the Far East is cheap, and a GI who experiences war in Vietnam soon learns about the disregard in which human life is held there. But for any American to adopt such an attitude is both unnatural and wholly unacceptable.

It is quite likely that the American public will deal most harshly with the unbelievable and shameful behavior of its own fighting men. Even before the announced courts martial, the public condemnation has followed swiftly on the widely-circulated reports of the barbarous conduct at My Lai.

If those who participated in the slaughter at My Lai were merely following military orders—or were engaged in conduct which they deemed essential to the successful conduct of the war—so much the more does this militate against our active military involvement in Vietnam.

In announcing his intention to withdraw all United States ground combat forces in Vietnam at the earliest practicable date, the President is pursuing a policy advocated by the late President Eisenhower who warned against deployment of American ground forces in Asia. My Lai is a gruesome reminder of the wisdom of that policy.

The My Lai incident has been described as "a very rare exception" to the usual course of GI conduct which has been characterized by acts of generosity, compassion and assistance toward the people of South Vietnam.

However, in the light of the recent disclosures, the events at My Lai require a public airing, to the end that any deviation from our high standards of morality and behavior may be made known—and so that violations may be punished—appropriately.

In the question and answer period which followed, Butler told parents that if they had any suspicion that their child was using drugs, that they should call his office and they would help the parents with the problem in every way possible. In a quiet and unpublicized manner, he also brought out the point that his department wasn't out to jail every experimenter but would do all they could to help them from becoming addicts. Their main objective is to arrest and prosecute the pushers.

Dr. Abderholden admitted that the medical profession was not geared to solving the drug problem of the many addicts, that a cure had to come from the realm of the mind and the spirit.

Butler burned a small quantity of marijuana to acquaint parents with the odor of "grass." Parents were warned to keep pills and medicines out of the reach of their children and young people.

The permanent campus is also needed to carry on additional planned programs, especially in the areas of careers, adult continuing education, and community service programs.

As a result of community needs as indicated by various agencies located in the College district, the College of Lake County is planning to offer in the near future two service programs—the Fundamentals of Waste Water Treatment and Fire Science Technology.

Mayor Richard J. Daley has admitted as much.

Most downstate counties have painfully followed the law, faithfully collecting the personal property tax which Gov. Ogilvie rightly characterized as "the most hated, unfair and inequitable element of our local tax system." Coulson adds.

Letters to the Editor

214 Hickory Lane - Antioch
December 7, 1969
Dear Sir:

Congratulations on your perceptive and constructive editorial, "Consult the People." As you state so clearly, "The real issue is non-partisan." Only if the American citizen is able to influence governmental decision and general policy will he himself (be) free.

Just this past week I saw a statement by the president of one of the many businessmen's groups formed to combat the increasing militarization of this country. Mr. Harold Willens, president of The New Businessmen's Fund, and also a former Marine captain, pointed out that 80% of our Federal Budget is now spent for military purposes. The Pentagon, he says, has a staff of 6,000 public relations men, and 390 lobbyists—two for every three Congressmen!

Quite a substantial sum of that 80% of our taxes, of course, goes for the salaries of these 6,399 individuals. The salaries probably average over $20,000 each—but suppose they average $10,000 each—that would still be $63,990,000, without estimating what we pay for their office space, clerical staff, equipment, supplies, etc., and, undoubtedly, expense accounts. And these individuals spend their entire time devising ways to extract still more dollars from our bottomless pockets for "defense."

Anyone who has been on the west coast in the last year or so may have noticed that the entire 80-mile stretch between Tacoma and Seattle, for instance, in what had been the beautiful state of Washington, is defaced by one dreary military building after another. It was reported over WMAQ this week that we now have bases in 28 countries—besides Vietnam.

And still, this is certainly the best place in the world to live, for most of us. But unless we determine not to continue to follow in the steps of dead civilizations, and of our European and Asian totalitarian contemporaries, our chances for survival are little better than theirs.

Is there still time?

Keep up your fine work!

Very truly yours,

Jessie Carter

During my recent successful campaign to become a delegate to the Illinois Constitutional Convention I had the pleasure of meeting hundreds of wonderful people from all parts of the 31st District. I owe them all—newspaper editors and publishers, radio commentators, helpers, supporters, voters and citizens—my sincere appreciation. Indeed, all of us in the 31st District are particularly indebted to our local press and radio for the superb coverage of events leading up to the election of delegates.

I invite citizens from all parts of the 31st District to join with their delegates in the important work of the convention. To represent effectively, we must know their concerns and needs. It is my intention to make myself available to any responsible, representative person or group from any part of the district to the extent time allows. This is necessary so that I can both offer and receive information about the many issues to be resolved. This convention belongs to the people. Holiday Safety...

—Have a self-service bar that includes a good selection of non-alcoholic beverages. At many parties, a non-alcoholic or lightly spiked punch is considered sufficient.

—Push food. Start serving early and keep food within easy reach.

—At mid-party time, follow up with sweets and dessert foods, coffee and tea. This will have the effect of signaling that the drinking period is over.

—Above all, encourage a guest who has had too much to drink to sober-up before leaving, arrange his transportation home as a passenger, or persuade him to stay overnight.

More than 200,000 pints of whole blood are used for transfusions to patients in the Chicago area each year. A blood bank must have a ready supply to fill the need. Edison Give Yule A Bright Spot

About 300,000 kilowatts of electricity will be used for decorative lights inside and outside the home this year in Commonwealth Edison Company's service area. That's four times the electricity required to illuminate all of the city of Chicago's lights—street lights, alley lights, traffic signals, subways lights and others illumination.

Looking at it another way, the electricity used for Christmas lighting is equivalent to the power that would be used by about 10 John Hancocks. And Big John is a 100-story all-electric building that, among other things, depends on electricity for heating and air conditioning as well as lighting.

It's not only homeowners and apartment dwellers who are getting into the act, however. Towns and villages, merchants associations, civic groups and the like are helping to proliferate the bright look at Christmas.

Chicago and suburban area residents will join in massing Christmas lights to celebrate the season. In addition to the traditional use of Christmas lights over doors and trim, on roof peaks and evergreens, more homeowners are investing in illuminated and animated displays.

Edison urges its customers to season their Yuletide decorating with a little caution for a safe as well as a merry Christmas. Some do's and don'ts suggested by Edison:

—Check lighting sets; cords and sockets for fraying, aging or heat damage. If in doubt about the condition of a lighting set, replace it.

—Don't connect lights until they're attached to the tree or outside support.

—Use open eye hooks or tape to secure outside lights.

—Don't overload electrical outlets. If an overload blows a fuse, switch lights to another circuit. Never replace a blown fuse with one of a higher amperage.

—Floodlight metallic trees. Do not attach lights to a metal surface.

—For outside decoration use only weatherproof lighting sets with heavy duty rubber extension cords. Arrange the cord so bulbs point downward. This way water can't run into sockets.

All Veterans Can Get Hospital Care

Care in Veterans Administration hospitals may be extended to veterans of all wars and to peace-time veterans under certain conditions, according to Dr. Joseph J. Frankel, Director of the VA Westside Hospital in Chicago.

Priority on admission to hospitals goes first to veterans who require treatment for service-connected conditions, he said. Second priority is for those who have service-connected disabilities but require treatment for conditions that are not service connected.

A veteran without a service-connected disability may be admitted provided he served in any war or after June 27, 1950; or received the Medal of Honor during peacetime service.

Dr. Frankel pointed out that admission of these patients is contingent upon these considerations: (1) hospitalization must be necessary, (2) the patient must state in writing that he is unable to defray the cost of the necessary hospitalization elsewhere, and (3) an appropriate hospital bed must be available.

Outpatient care for non-service-connected conditions is not permitted by law, Dr. Frankel said, but certain pre-hospital and post-hospital medical services can be performed for patients who are scheduled for admission to a VA hospital or for those who require followup care after hospitalization.

The intent of this law, he said, is to shorten periods of actual hospitalization while providing the same medical care.

Patients who have received maximum hospital benefit yet require nursing care may be furnished this care in either a VA facility or a private nursing home.

Veterans disabled by age or disease who do not need hospitalization or skilled nursing care may be admitted to VA domiciliaries on an ambulatory, self-care basis under approximately the same rules as for hospitalization.

Application may be made by the veteran or in behalf of the veteran at any VA office.

Hans Brinker A Big Hit With The Kids

Wooden shoes clomping, silver ice skates clicking, the icy winds blowing over the Dutch Dykes—all are sounds (real and imaginary) of "Hans Brinker or the Silver Skates" presented this past weekend by PM&L at the PM&L Theatre, 877 Main St., Antioch.

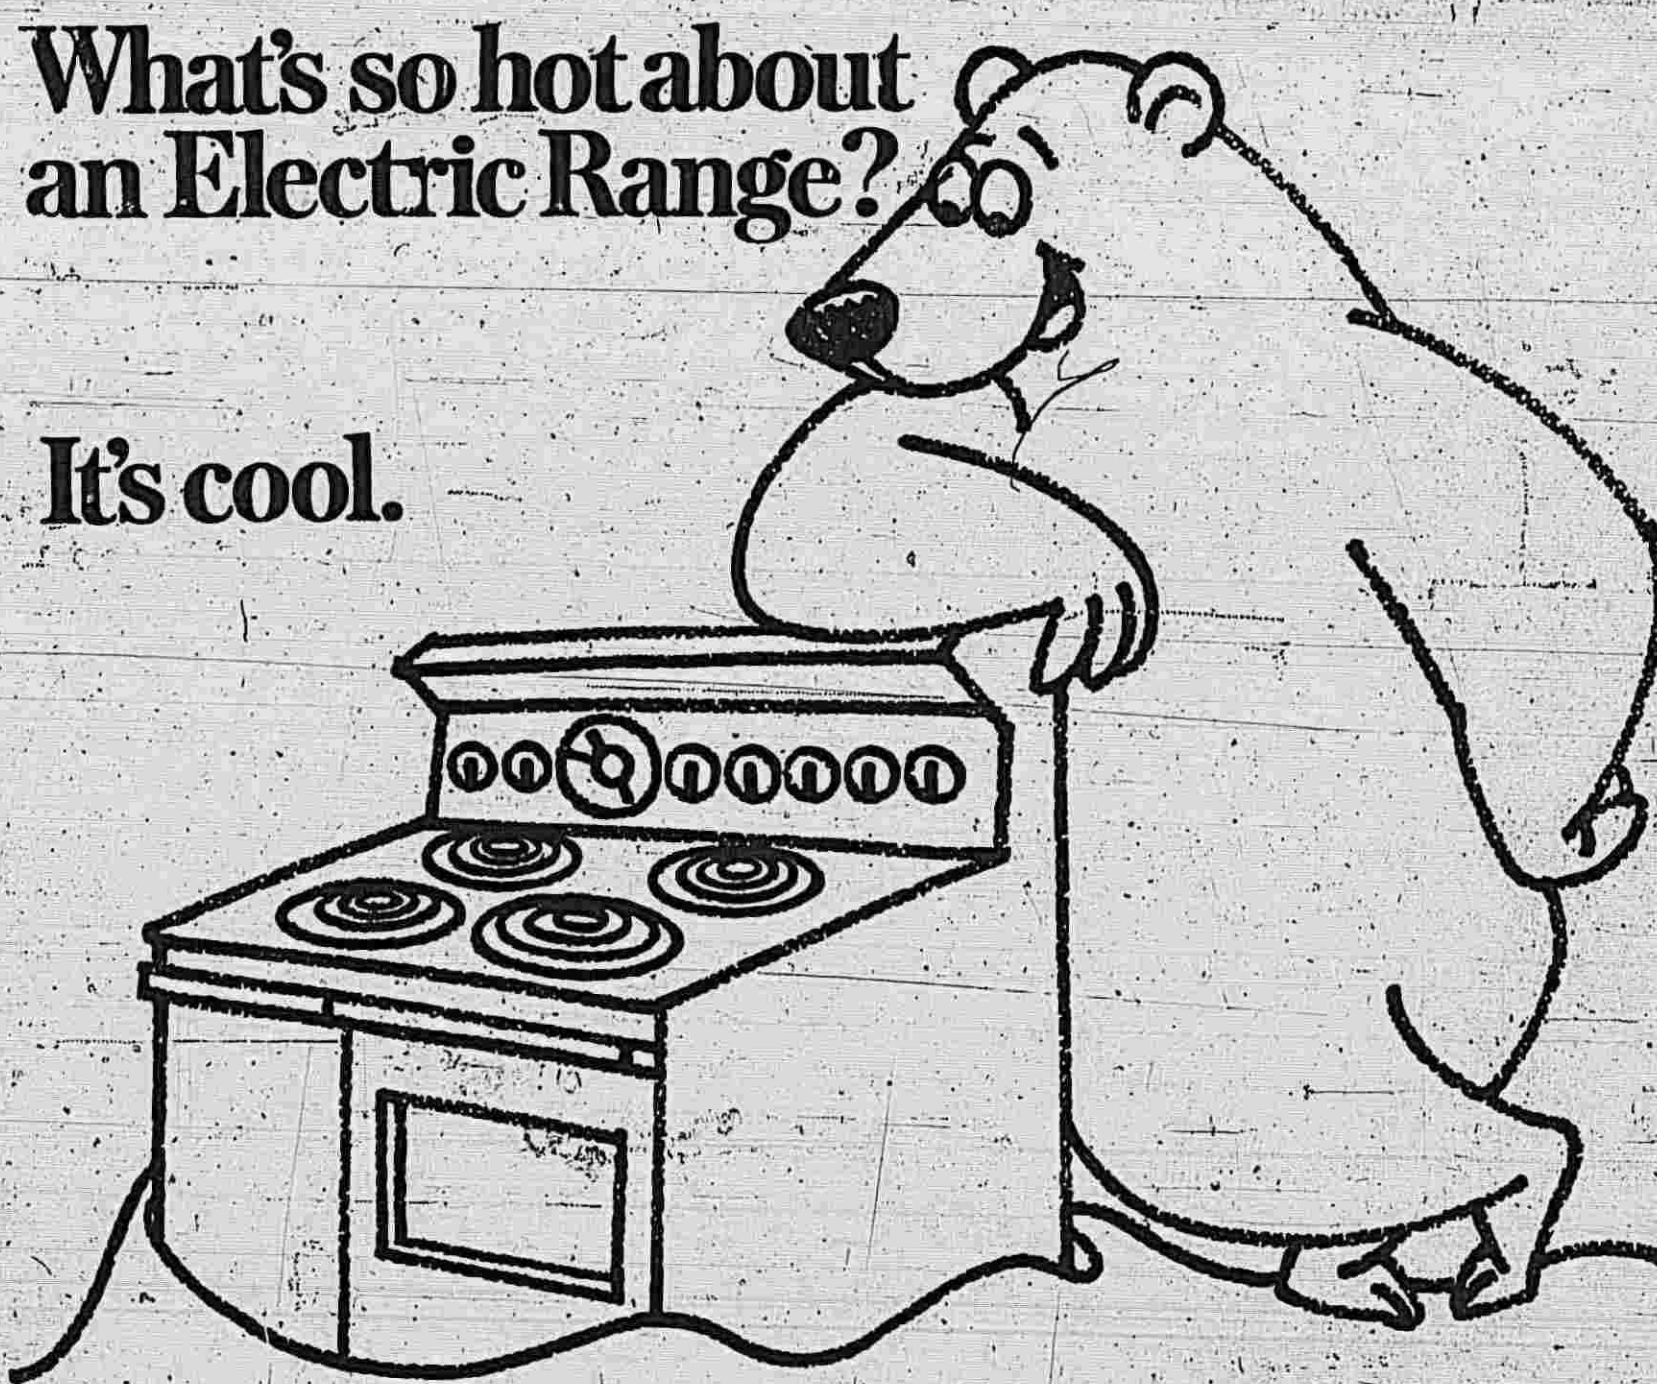

Children and adults can still see this "live" children's play on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 13 and 14 at 2:30 p.m. The play is appealing to young and old with its colorful Dutch costumes, interesting set, and above all a plot that is exciting, humorous, and full of drama.

The cast of grade and high school students and adults create the tale with enthusiasm and excellent direction from Valerie Hunley, a veteran director of children's plays.

What's so hot about an Electric Range?

It's cool.

Any cook knows that heat belongs in the oven, not in the kitchen. And the electric oven knows how to keep it there. Because only an electric oven is insulated on all six sides. So the heat stays inside... roasts come out juicier, cakes moister... and your kitchen stays cool. You do too.

What's more, the electric oven bakes faster. Because it's insulated on all six sides, less pre-heating is needed. Even the surface units keep your kitchen cool, because heat is transferred directly into the pot and not out into the air. The handle stays cool... and so does the cook.

Time to replace the range at your house? Then take a look at the only one that knows how to keep its cool.

Abbott Lab Gives Out Bonus Checks

More than $2 million in Cash Profit Sharing checks was distributed Dec. 4 to Abbott Laboratories' employees, most of them living in or near Lake County.

The $2,153,000 pay-out was up almost 10 percent over 1968, itself a record year.

The record pay-out by the North Chicago firm was based on nearly $65 million of employee eligible earnings for this year's Cash Profit Sharing year.

$2 million is a lot of money—enough to buy:

—About 500 new luxury cars;

—10,000 round-trip plane tickets to the Caribbean;

—Nearly 3,000 large color television sets;

—Almost a million and a half pounds of choice porterhouse steaks.

The plan was announced five years ago to employees, and was created to show employees the direct connection between their job performance and Abbott earnings performance. Checks are distributed in early December to give employees extra Christmas money.

The Cash Profit Sharing pool to be shared by eligible employees is an amount equal to 3.15 percent of pre-tax earnings for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30.

THE MOONSHINER

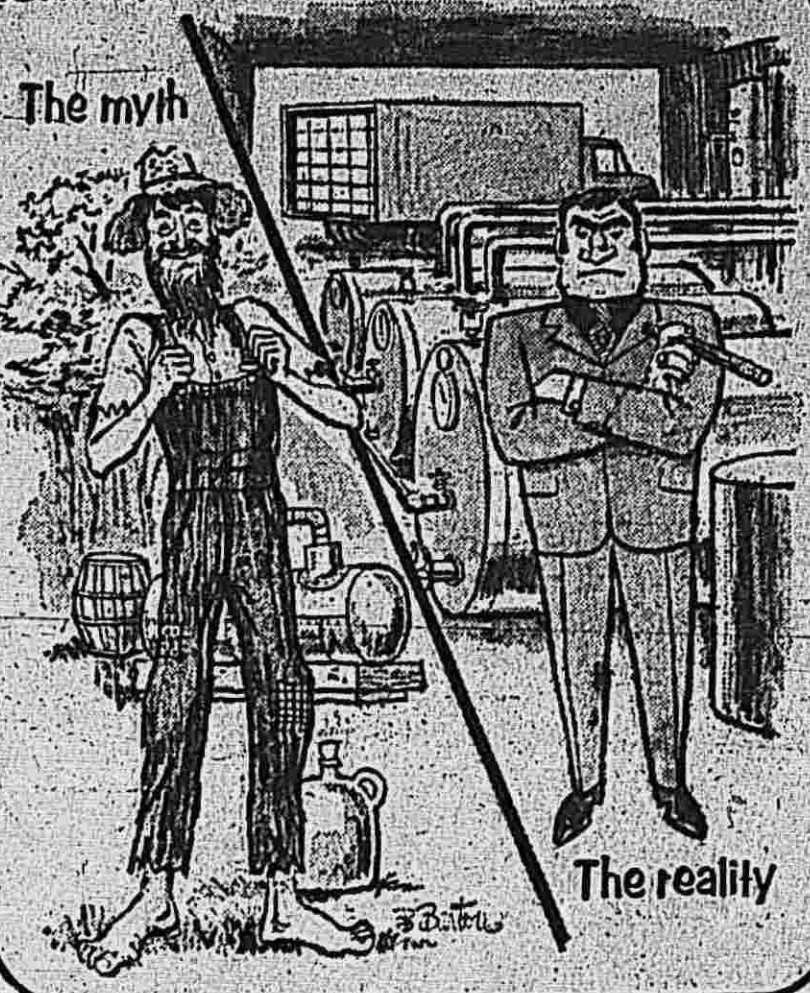

New York—(HK)—The "Syndicate" is fast replacing the hill-billy moonshiner in the multi-million dollar illegal liquor business.

The small "bootlegger" is slowly going out of business, and most law enforcement agents agree that many are combining their talents to form larger operations. Federal agents now recognize that moonshining is increasingly in the hands of big crime syndicates who make the job of the Internal Revenue Service even tougher.

A retired agent of the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service said recently that moonshine is basically a matter of economics. Huge profits are derived from the manufacture and sale of tax-free illegal liquor, making it attractive to mob operations. Moonshine is a fast seller in depressed areas, and easy access to the sordid product in dry areas has increased illicit sales.

His statements are supported by statistics compiled by Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc., the research and public information agency of the distilled spirits industry. LBI estimates that some 200,000 moonshine operators in the U. S. have a total annual income of more than $650 million, and defraud federal, state, and local governments of more than $600 million a year in unpaid liquor-excite taxes.

Lawmen "take the ax" to between 17,000 and 20,000 illegal stills in the United States each year. Many of these have grown greatly in size and output over the years, bearing out the fact that bootleg liquor is becoming a problem far greater than just corn squeezings and bathtub gin.

10 WAYS TO PREVENT BURGLARY

Bloomington, Ill.—(HK)—Burglary is probably the most preventable of crimes.

In fact, many of us actually help criminals in their work through our own carelessness.

Crime specialists tell us that the increasing number of burglaries could be significantly reduced—along with a reduction in our property insurance rates—if we were to take just a few simple precautions to safeguard ourselves.

An official study made recently in New York showed that unlocked doors, open windows and other enticements enabled thieves to gain entry without using force in almost one-third of all burglaries committed to the city.

State Farm Fire and Casualty Company, the nation's largest writer of homeowners package policies, suggests these simple, practical safeguards to protect your home:

1. Always lock your door with a key. A door that locks when it is slammed is no obstacle whatever to a burglar.

2. Lock your windows, too.

3. Never leave a key under the doormat or in any other "secret" hiding place.

4. Leave more than one light on when you go out at night. If you are going to be away for more than a day, yet an inexpensive timer device that turns lights on and off automatically.

5. Don't let strangers into your home. A peephole in the door or a chain lock—or both—are helpful.

6. Don't tell strangers when you won't be home.

7. Don't let your house look unoccupied. Uncut grass, unshowered walls or mail, newspapers and milk bottles that have been allowed to accumulate, are sure signs the householder is away.

8. Keep your garage door closed. An empty garage often serves as an invitation to burglars.

9. Use a safe deposit box. Don't rely on home strong-boxes. Also keep a record of serial numbers of property that may be traced.

10. Notify the police if you are going away and be a good neighbor. Keep an eye on your neighbor's house.

Many people tend not to worry too much about being burglarized. "I'm insured," they say. While it is comforting to know that you are covered by insurance, says State Farm, those who shrug off concern about thefts for that reason should consider that rates are based upon what insurance companies call "experience." The easier people make it for burglars, the higher their insurance rates must be.

Pfluger Top Candidate For Air Force Quintet

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo.

The Air Force Academy basketball team will be handicapped by lack of height and experience as it opens the 1969-70 cage season Dec. 1, against Colorado University, the Big Eight Conference favorite.

Falcon Coach Bob Spear, rebuilding without an experienced "big man," and only four returning lettermen, will be depending on speed and the development of several promising youngsters.

From last year's successful frosh and junior varsity squads.

A top candidate for the starting Academy five is Cadet Daniel W. Pfluger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Pfluger, Salem, Wis.

The former Central High School basketball standout will be vying for a center position. Pfluger, a 6-8, 195-pound sophomore, will wear number 34.

Air Force held the big, high scoring Colorado Buffaloes to a five-point victory margin in losing last year's opener and went on to an 11-13 season record against strong major college competition. This season the Falcons equally tough 24-game schedule includes Arizona State, Wyoming, Colorado State, California, Stanford, Utah State and other top collegiate teams.

Cadet Pfluger was a three-year basketball letterman at Central High under coach Dorm Grams, winning all-conference and all-area honors. He also lettered in track and was president of the honor society and valedictorian of his class.

Majoring in civil engineering at the Academy he will be commissioned a second lieutenant upon graduation in June 1972.

Jeff Sterbenz, 24, who scored 13 points against Warren bats away a try by a Warren shooter.

Antioch Wins Opener

On Friday, Dec. 5, the Antioch Sequoits upset one of the conference favorites--Warren--by a score of 69-64, a real thriller.

The Sequoits were slow to get going but once they started to move--all went well for the Sequoits. During the first period Warren jumped out to a quick 4 point lead and maintained the lead the rest of the quarter.

As the second quarter started Warren really opened a large lead on the Sequoits with Doug Zeit hitting three baskets, Warren had a lead of 30 to 17, with 2:30 left in the quarter. At this point, Marty Romaine hit for three quick baskets and as the quarter closed the Sequoits trailed only 34 to 27.

In the third quarter, the Sequoits momentum continued as Romaine and Keith Bolton lead the attack. With 4:16 left in the quarter, the Sequoits took their first lead 39 to 38, but this was short lived as Warren bounced back to move in front again by five 47 to 42 with a minute remaining in the quarter. A lay-up basket and two free throws by Bolton closed the score to 47 to 46, but in the last six seconds Warren scored 3 points to lead 50 to 46 going into the fourth quarter.

In the first four minutes of the fourth quarter the two teams working hard to get control of the game could manage only to exchange baskets, but the Sequoits did close the gap. With two minutes remaining the score tied at 60-60, Romaine hit a jump shot, but Orthey also hit a jump shot to tie the score again at 62 all with 1:52 left.

Jeff Sterbenz then hit a rebound basket, only to have Or-they hit a like basket for Warren with 1:19 left. As the Sequoits were putting the ball into play in their offensive court area Sterbenz was fouled. He hit the first to put the score Antioch 65-Warren 64.

On the second shot, Warren rebounded the missed free throw, but Sterbenz with a fine defensive move forced Warren to commit an offensive foul, thus Antioch got possession with 43 seconds remaining. The Sequoits put the ball in play as Warren was pressing all over. Then Sterbenz worked free under the basket and Steve Bentel hit him with pass and Jeff made the lay-up and was fouled. He missed the free throw, but Bolton grabbed the rebound and scored an easy basket to tie the game for the Sequoits.

"It was a terrific win, a real team effort," stated coach Andrews.

"The defensive work on Zeit and Smiley was beautiful to watch--Tom Martin, Jim Weiss and Marty Romaine did a great job on those two Warren players," added the Sequoits mentor.

"What about Keith, all those rebounds, he was like a man mountain in there with 27 rebounds--that's a new school record," continued the coach.

For the game, Bolton, Romaine and Sterbenz lead the scoring with 25, 20 and 13 respectively.

BASKETBALL

St. Peter's basketball games scheduled for Sunday were cancelled due to bad weather.

On Thursday the sixth graders played St. Joseph the Worker, of Wheeling and lost by a score of 18-12.

Sequoits Scalp Tremper

Completing a double weekend, the Antioch Sequoits scored another victory Saturday evening, beating Kenosha Tremper 81-60.

Led by the fine play of Jeff Sterbenz and supported by Keith Bolton and Marty Romaine, the Sequoits had control of the game from the start. Quickly the Antioch cagers jumped out to a 13-2 lead and maintained the lead during the next two quarters.

In the fourth quarter several Tremper players fouled out and the Sequoits opened a larger lead. In the final 4 minutes both coaches used their reserves.

Jeff Sterbenz played his finest game of his high school career, scoring 25 points and grabbing 11 rebounds. "Jeff was Johnny on the spot Saturday evening. It was good to see him have such a good game." He has worked hard this season," quoted Coach Andrews. "I was also pleased to see Marty come through with a fine weekend. All in all, it looks like we may be starting to jell," added the mentor.

The Sequoits did a fine job from the free throw line as they sank 37 of 56 tosses. The team shooting from the field was 22 of 60 for 37% for Antioch and 24 of 70 for 34% for Tremper. It was a wild, rough game as 40 fouls were called on Tremper. Tremper had six players foul out of the game. They had one good boy in Chip Claussen--he scored 27 points and grabbed 10 rebounds, but he couldn't counteract the balanced Sequoits team.

Next games for the Sequoits are Friday at Round Lake and Saturday Lake Forest here.

High Fashion For The Seventies

Private Deborah Sampson won her place in history as one of the first American women to wear pants. That was in the American Revolution. But it was Amelia Bloomer who started the real fashion revolution with the introduction in 1850 of full Turkish trousers worn under a short skirt. What she did has since been revised, adapted, ridiculed and copied as women have taken up bicycling, ballooning, horseback riding, skiing and world travel in a jet age.

Soon after the boom in bloomers, Sarah Bernhardt set the fashion world agog by being sculpted wearing a pantsuit in 1869. It was the act of a social maverick, or worse. A prominent fashion review of the day stated, concerning pants: "There is a limit which, we believe, cannot be exceeded without immediate detriment to public morals and positive offense to decency."

Avant-garde gave trousers their next big thrust as lady balloonists were seen soaring skyward in men's pants. Amelia Earhart added a helmet, goggles, leather jacket, breeches and high boots.

Bloomers for bathing and bicycling began to be accepted at the turn of the century when individualists like Elsa Maxwell flaunted convention by wearing breeches. The dude ranch rage of the 1920s and dusty pullman rides pushed the trend beyond practicality, toward high fashion and more travel.

By the 1930s, culottes, which looked like skirts and wore like pants, had become fashionable for beachwear. World War II brought Marlene Dietrich to the front lines in slacks and a shirt. Back home, women wore pants to do men's jobs in war plants and women's auxiliary forces. The evolution continued in 1963 when Courreges introduced the trouser suit.

Now pants, the symbol of travel through the centuries, have become part of the space age. True to these times, Eastern Airlines is dressing its 3,600 flight attendants in space-suits — which, like Private Sampson's uniform nearly 200 years ago — railroar the age and exploits of man.

Planned for fall and winter wear from the design room of David Crystal, Inc., the space-suit collection features a one-piece navy blue jumpsuit with matching jacket, flashing a scarlet lining. For a choice and a change, Eastern stewardesses can switch to three-piece, navy culottes including a cardigan jacket and turtle-neck shell.

Space footwear, hose, scarves, cap and a moon beige furry coat that looks like baby lamb complete the new space-age ensemble.
